

This students trip was my first overseas trip. Therefore, at first, I was filled with anxiety, but as the local people I met were all kind, gradually I became relaxed and enjoyed my time there. Surprisingly, I was able to communicate without using difficult words or grammar. It was a great joy when what I said was understood using what I had learned before. Everything, from the food, customs, and culture I found them fresh and stimulating, and I felt like I was able to broaden my horizons in those exciting days. It was a really short period of about 10 days, but I was able to learn a lot. I am full of gratitude towards those who created this opportunity and supported me. I want to share what I have learned with my friends and family."
